Council Notes

The Daly City Council on Monday night granted approval of changes and modifications in the 90th street assessment district. Some 25 assessments will be increased where properties receive the benefit of a new water line.

Councilmen also approved the establishment of a one foot reserve strip along Belcrest in front of the Franklin D. Roosevelt School to preserve the city's boundary line against proposed street tie-ins by other cities who may annex adjacent to the area.

Other action:

(1) Toyland Nursery School use permit for a nursery school on the corner of Florence and Thiers streets approved with proviso for seven minimum parking spaces.

(2) Granted a use permit for Alfred D. Boudou for a coin-operated dry cleaning and laundry at 45 Skyline drive.

(3) Granted a request from Henry Doelger Co., Inc., to purchase Daly City water to use outside the corporate limits for construction use during the next year. The request was in compliance with an already established ordinance.

(4) Set a hearing for November 26 for Panorama Development Company, regarding a petition for annexation of five parcels of land in the Southern Hills Development.

(5) City Manager Ed Frank reported a survey showed that city employees in general would not benefit from integration of social security with the state retirement system.

Daly City Fire Department Issues Plea For Volunteers

Are you looking for the excitement, adventure and thrills which go along with being a smoke-eater? If so, you have your chance on a part-time volunteer basis.

The Daly City fire department is seeking applicants for membership in Volunteer Fire Company No. 4.

Station Four is located at the corner of Peoria and Roosevelt streets and applicants should live within six square blocks of the station.

If you are interested in becoming a volunteer fireman, contact Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy or Battalion Chief Mel Hansen at WY 2-1144 for an interview.

This is not to be confused with Civil Defense firemen of other cities. Volunteers will be called to fight fires and act in other emergencies in Daly City when additional assistance is necessary and will be compensated for each call and drill.

All applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 31, male, and in excellent physical condition with high moral standards.

Employees Picnic Is Huge Success

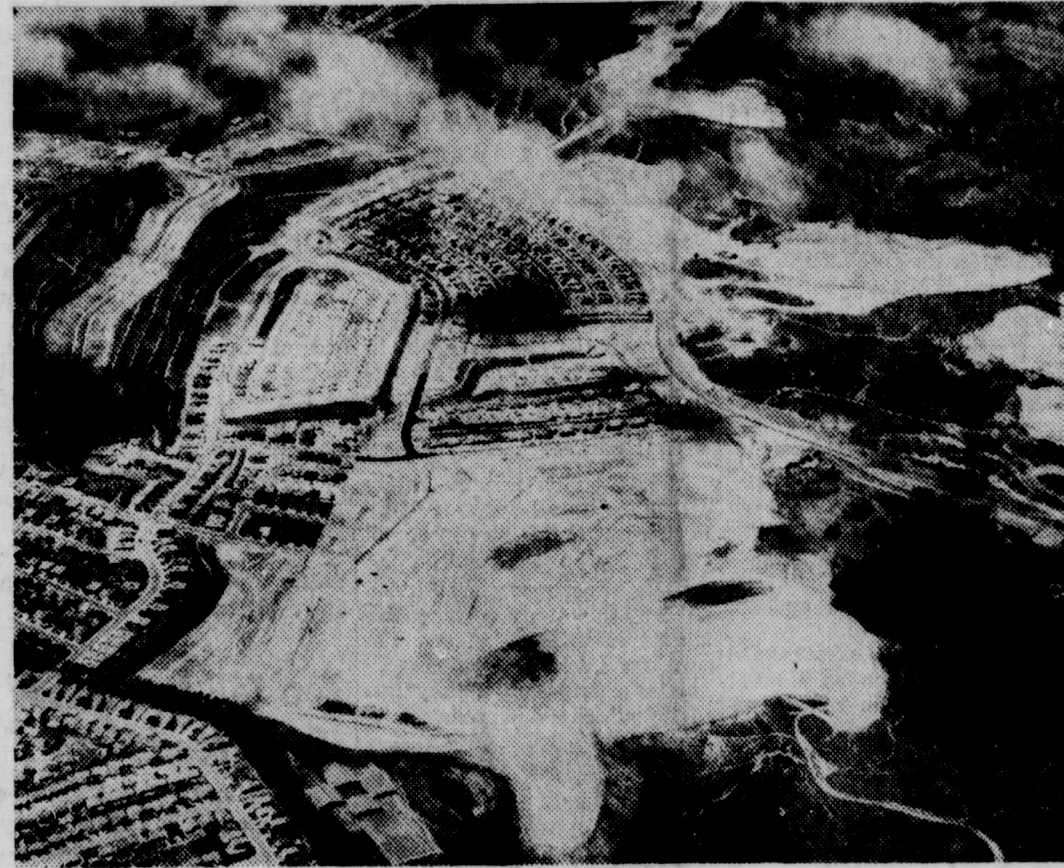

Under the talented and amiable leadership of its founding father, Joe Lewkowicz, the second annual Daly City Employees picnic was a resounding success. The event was held Sunday at Blackberry Farm, Cupertino, with more than 250 employees, their families and friends attending.

The main event of the day was the tug-of-war. The fire police department team tried vainly to retain its hard-won victory of last year. However, anchored by the recreation department, a public works dominated team easily outpulled last year's winners to even the series.

Other featured events besides the usual kid's races, softball game and swimming, included some outstanding events for employees. Public works director Bill Chapman and Neil Pezzola showed a renewed vigor and youth as they breezed to victories in the "under 40" and "over 40" respectively, men's dash. Although rewarded with a thorough soaking as were all contestants, Millie Paquetta and Janet Bastedo held on to the

'Colorful' JUHSD Board Likes Lively Musicians

Would you like your youngster to wail the creative "hard-bop" sounds of Stan Getz on his saxophone or the way-out "soul" of Thelonus Monk on his piano?

Or would you like him to play the bubbly sounds of Lawrence Welk or maybe even the dreamy music of Guy Lombardo?

The color of the walls where he practices his horn could arbitrate what kind of emotion he will put into his musical instrument.

At least this is the opinion of Dr. Jerry Miles, member of the Jefferson Union High School District Board of Trustees.

Dr. Miles questioned the selection of colors of the new Jefferson High School band room at the board meeting Monday night, contending that they were too subtle and did not provoke the emotion of the youthful John Phillip Sousa.

The color scheme of the renovated Jeff High School, currently under construction, was presented to the board Monday night by Swithin Chandler, color consultant for Falk & Booth architects.

The colors selected for the band room were subtle greens and blues. Miles contended that the musicians needed a stimulus — like a shocking cherry red for example.

"We must consider ourselves in the place of each of these instrument players," said Miles. "Colors and music have a close tie and the psychological effect of bright, hard-hitting colors would inspire their playing," he added.

Chandler disagreed, saying: "I have spent a long time on this color scheme and red just wouldn't go. You don't need a symphony of colors; it would excite them. You want them quiet," said Chandler, whose face was fast approaching a stimulating hue.

After much horn-blowing, the two men agreed to let the Jeff band teacher have the final note — we mean say — in the matter.

So while the harps in heaven serenaded the Saints and the drums in Hell beat out in wrath, the board approved the color scheme for Jefferson High's new buildings — with the exception of the band room.

Misstatement On DC Firemen

An incorrect statement was printed in the Sept. 27 issue of the Westlake Times regarding testimony of three of four Daly City firemen who were discharged following the April 6 fire at Lagomarsino warehouse.

The Times stated that the firemen, Harvey Cross, James Dresser and Robert D. Malcolm, testified at the recent hearing of the Board of Review that: "... one of the firemen was in the presence of Grizzel when a gallon of gasoline was dumped on the warehouse floor."

This testimony was made before the Board of Review by John J. Grizzel, one of two non-employees on the premises of Firehouse No. 2 the night of April 6.

The firemen denied throughout the hearing they were present when the gasoline was dumped.

The Times regrets the error.

Bob St. Clair's Son Injured In Two-Car Crackup

The six-year-old son of Daly City councilman Robert B. St. Clair suffered abrasions of the nose and forehead Monday afternoon in a two-car rear-end collision at West Portal and Portola drive in San Francisco.

St. Clair's son, Greg, six, was treated at Alameda Emergency Hospital.

Officers said St. Clair, resident of 76 Ocean Grove, Daly City, was driving north on West Portal. His car collided with the rear of a car driven by Nathan Samuels, 301 Arballo drive, an administrative employee of the California National Guard. St. Clair told officers another car cut in front of him and when he looked ahead, Samuels' car had stopped in the lane of traffic. Samuels told officers a Municipal bus had pulled in front of him without warning, causing him to stop.

High School Board Approves Terra Nova's 2nd Increment

The Jefferson Union High School District Board of Trustees approved the master plan for the second increment of Terra Nova High School Monday night.

The high school, whose current capacity is 1,500 students, will be increased to 2,000 students when the second increment is completed.

Falk & Booth Architects presented the second increment plans to the board. The completion of the second increment is forecast for fall of 1964.

"We will not have sufficient eligibility to finance the actual construction of the second increment this year," said Superintendent Edward Morgan. "However, the plans will be completed and we will be able to commence immediately upon becoming eligible," Morgan added.

The next regular Jefferson Union High School District School Board meeting will be October 22.

'Home Owned' Bank Planned For Daly City

Daly City's sixth bank was in the makings this week as a group of sponsors met and discussed plans for a new First National Bank of Daly City to be located on Mission street.

Sponsors of the proposed bank are Lawrence Vannucci, Gerald Mincher, Harold Curcusis, Elton McGraw, Hugh Smith, Jr., and Rico Lagomarsino. David Friedenberg is legal counsel.

The proposed directors were granted approval last week by the U. S. Comptroller of Currency, Washington, D. C. Formal charter will be issued when management is submitted and approved.

"We are most optimistic of the future of this bank and have had enthusiastic response from the local people," Friedenberg said.

"We intend to permit people locally to participate in ownership of the bank, and we have had many inquiries already regarding this," he said.

Charged with assault with a deadly weapon was Enice Q. Marsh, 41, Larchmont drive, Colma, a desk man at the Bayshore Bowl.

South San Francisco detectives said an argument ensued at about 11:30 p.m. Oct. 7 at the bowling alley-poolroom regarding the use of the telephone at the desk. Words were exchanged. Pushes were exchanged, and the suspect allegedly struck the victim across the head with a cue stick.

No Tax Boost Says Joe Arch

By JACK WOOD

Daly City's financial picture, which only a few years back was admittedly "a mess," has brightened considerably under the watchful eyes of Finance Director Joseph Arch.

This can be attributed, for the most part, to:

(1) Programmed expenditures.

(2) Increase in city's assessed valuation.

(3) "Catch up" on capital improvements.

In the past three years, the city budget has increased almost one million dollars, from $2,228,340 to $3,189,386.

To take on the extra work, Arch's department tried to program as much of the load as possible on machines.

Tax Rate Same

Next year, finance will data process all water billing. This department has five full time employees, and has absorbed employees from the purchasing department.

The tax rate remains the same at $1.48 per $100 assessed valuation, although the assessed valuation increased $3,500,000. This additional revenue, plus the fact that the city had enough reserves, took care of city expenditures during the past three years.

This fiscal year the city hired seven new employees, including three firemen, three policemen and one clerk in the police department. Salary increases total $64,999.

Growing Area

The amount of money budgeted for materials and supplies by the city has decreased because several capital improvement projects started during the past few years are completed. These include the new fire house, new library, new trucks, autos and police cars, and park improvements.

These improvements, Arch stated, were to "keep up with a growing area."

The city council at the time, he said, "had an insight of how Westlake would grow." But, he said, a capital outlay program was not immediately put into effect, and this hampered the financial efforts.

Arch said that "I think we can safely say that the financial trend of taxes in Daly City seems to be leveling off."

Arch stated he did not look for any tax rise in the next two years.

New Ideas

Some current ideas to consolidate the finance structure even further were outlined by Arch. They include:

(1) Placing the water department on its own — not using any water monies to operate the administrative end. "We want to put this department on a self supporting basis — which we have done already — but want it to be more so in the future."

(2) Property Evaluation: "We are already taking stock of everything the city owns. We will evaluate every building and then complete an evaluation of water department property." Arch said this would serve the city for computing and estimating proper amounts of city insurance, depreciation and replacement factors.

"That way," he said, "you can program your expenditures more easily."

Future Projects

Future capital improvement projects include the Knowles avenue improvements, new city hall, major street program, and storm drain work.

The duties of the Daly City finance department are lengthy. They include:

(1) Responsibility for programming financial operation of city.

(2) Estimating revenues.

(3) Outlining expenditure program.

(4) Controlling all revenues and expenditures as outlined in budgetary program approved by council.

(5) Approve expenditures for proper authorization and within confines of the budget. This includes actual writing of checks.

(6) Collecting revenues and funding them properly in accordance with the budget.

Elem. Language Teachers Learn On Television

Dr. Peter S. Presta, associate professor of foreign languages at San Francisco State College, directs the first television program for the training of elementary schools' language teachers to be held in California. The instructional TV course began last Tuesday, October 2, at 4 p.m., over Channel 9, KQED, the workshop being repeated on Thursday, also at 4 p.m., and Friday at 6:30 p.m.

Dr. Presta has been at San Francisco State College since 1950 and is the project director for the "Espanol Para Maestros" program on KQED. He graduated from Lake Forest College in Illinois and awarded his Master's and Ph.D. at the University of Illinois.

According to Dr. Presta, the project has the purpose of assisting teachers of foreign languages in elementary grades to use the most modern techniques in teaching Spanish in their own classrooms and to provide them sufficient background in the language to make them feel secure in their instructions.

Participants will utilize a manual which includes the philosophy of teaching by audio-lingual methods and will also work with phonograph records for drill. Dr. Presta states that the three media of the visual TV workshop, the manual, and the records form an integrated unit for the proper study of Spanish.

Channel 9, KQED, reaches 15 counties for a 27-week program. The Spanish project will also be telecast by KSBW in Salinas and KSBY in San Luis Obispo, drive.

This was the second city-wide drive held under the auspices of the San Francisco Council of Churches. Last year 13,048 pounds of clothing were collected. A report on this year's collection will be made soon.

Polio Vaccine Given To 77 Percent Of Populace

A total of 2,741,697 persons—77 per cent of the Bay Area's population—received Type I Sabin oral polio vaccine during the first round of the K. O. POLIO campaign, Dr. Edward B. Shaw, drive leader, announced last week.

The total includes those who took Sabin drops on K. O. POLIO Sunday, September 23, and others who received the vaccine last week at make-up vaccine clinics in all six counties.

The percentage is based on the "unofficial" population estimate of 3,559,500 made here by the U. S. Census Bureau as of July 1, 1962, the Bay Area Council reported.

However, based on the "official" 1960 census, the last one taken with exact figures, the Bay Area's immunization percentage would be 83.4. The population then totaled 3,285,034.

Wells Fargo Bank officials are still counting donations for the vaccine, said Lloyd Graybiel, vice president of the bank. Total donations will be reported to the public within the next few days, he said.

Graybiel added that after expenses of the massive drive are paid for, all excess donations will be given to charities and figures will also be made public.

Are Consumers Idiots?

Government regulation of business and other groups can be beneficial and wise. It also can be destructive and malicious. And, on occasion, it can be plain foolish.

Take, for instance, a matter that recently came into the Oregon courts.

It has to do with the size of the pans bread is baked in by the commercial bakeries to produce a loaf of a certain size. Some of the bread has come from traditional one-pound pans. But numbers of consumers like a lighter and airier bread. So some one-pound loaves have been baked in one-and-a-half-pound pans to meet this demand.

These larger loaves have been properly labeled as weighing only a pound. But legal action has been brought to stop this practice, under an Oregon regulation adopted some years ago and, apparently, widely disregarded. The argument is that the power of the state must be brought into play to protect the stupid customer against the machinations of retailers.

Currently proposed federal laws would lead to comparable situations on a 50-state scale. These proposals—which must be based on the supposition that most consumers are idiots, and that most manufacturers and retailers are crooks—would give a federal body sweeping regulatory powers over just about everything we consumers buy.

There is no question here of honest and accurate labeling, whether it has to do with weights, the ingredients used, or anything else. Such protections have long been in effect, and properly so. The long-term question is whether a far-off, power-hungry bureaucracy is ultimately to tell us what can and cannot be made, what can and cannot be sold and in what form, and what we can or cannot buy.

The Crime Of 'Unlimited' Secrecy

"Washington Cover-Up" is the title of a new book by Clark Mollenhoff, which Doubleday has published. And Mr. Mollenhoff, let it be said at the start, is no political gossipier. He is a capital correspondent of top reputation who has won many awards, the Pulitzer Prize among them.

He tells us that unlimited secrecy, at high official levels, has been "employed to hide incompetence, laxity, bungling, and outright frauds in the Defense Department, in the foreign aid program, and in dozens of other areas." And these crimes of omission and commission, he says in effect, have occurred in both Democratic and Republican Administrations. So this is not a partisan problem.

Other reputable reporters of the national scene have said much the same thing. And it is particularly evil when the Defense Department is involved. For Defense accounts for more than half of all federal spending. The American people support this enormous burden willingly, looking on it as a sacrifice our age demands in the name of survival. So, if any agency of the government should be as Caesar's wife, Defense is that one.

Secrecy in government affairs can be justified only when a real question of security is at stake—when the release of information would aid our enemies. In all other areas, it needs to be rooted out.

At regular intervals, the Association of American Railroads analyzes editorials appearing in American newspapers on railroad topics and problems. The last analysis covers 1,635 of these editorials printed during a recent three month period. The opinions thus given are typical of past surveys. Here are some of the editorial conclusions:

108 said railroads must remain under private ownership and operation, with none dissenting.

565 said railroads are over-regulated or regulations outmoded, with none dissenting.

313 said railroads should have greater freedom to make competitive rates, with only seven dissenting and three neutral.

422 said railroads are hurt by union "feather-bedding" or outmoded work rules, with none dissenting and five neutral.

209 said the report of the Presidential Commission which studied the outmoded work rules problem is in the public interest and should be adopted, with none dissenting and one neutral.

The World Series ...

Because most people like to get in on the act, and because this is World Series time, now might be the time to say something about Baseball.

It was a noticeable thing that the streets were comparatively empty during the crucial ball games of the past couple of weeks. Although we will not attempt to statistically back up the claim, we have the distinct impression that incidents requiring police service were greatly reduced during these times.

It seems that almost everyone who could possibly do so was either watching or listening to the San Francisco and Los Angeles playoff games, and to the later San Francisco and New York series games. Auto traffic was reduced at these times, business absenteeism was high, police switchboard calls were at an ebb.

The occasions presumably saw many an employer told of plural dead grandmothers, and yet we did not investigate one homicide during these times.

Even though the games probably are used as conversation pieces by some, and even though some may consider it currently "the thing to do" to express interest in the contests, we feel there to be a deeper significance.

It has long been the claim of boys clubs and various youth movements that one of the primary objectives of such movements is to keep the boys off of the streets.

We are saying here that baseball in recent days has kept many, many people off of the streets, both boys and other people. Might this not serve as a magnified example of what is accomplished by directing the energies and interests of aggressive, restless, growing boys?

The police cannot count what does not happen, and that is why statistics are labeled as "Crimes known to the Police." But with the energies and interests of the boys so directed into an absorbing, engrossing, competitive field of baseball, it seems likely that to an unknown extent the crimes known to the police have not been increased.

In addition to the regular and well administered recreation program in the city, then, some years ago the police invaded the recreation field. While such encroachment may not be the most polite thing to do, the reasons were honorable—and were thought of as a long range effort in crime prevention.

The Police Athletic League has never made the claim that anyone has been rehabilitated or resocialized through its efforts, for the League does not deal with criminals nor delinquents. It does deal with experimenting, restless boys, and serves to direct such energies into a real boys game of baseball.

The fact that the game is baseball is also of significance. It is a game which calls for both individual and team performance, and we feel that these be factors in good citizenship.

That baseball is of national (to say the least) interest has been apparent these last few days, and so the boys should be able to picture themselves upon the mosaic of a larger scene—the PAL, for example, as pictured against the backdrop of the national pastime, to borrow a phrase.

Baseball is also a good game for growing boys, for it allows them to compete and prepare for the time when they can play sports with more body contact, while learning about sportsmanship and give and take.

While we are not sure to what extent, then, we do feel that the Police Athletic League, in its baseball program, has been a crime prevention factor in the community. Possibly even more important, individual boys have learned to deal with the police WHEN THEY ARE NOT IN TROUBLE.

Statistically, this is difficult to prove—the only thing that can be substantiated here is that thefts have increased (and can be explained away as stolen bases).

Public relations-wise, we feel the PAL, through baseball, has allowed and encouraged the meeting of citizen and policeman (and especially boy and policeman) on a common ground of mutual trust and effort.

This might indicate that not only has the recreation field been invaded in a good cause, but that so has the public relations field.

We would be inclined to disagree with ourselves about some of these examples, though. We have spoken of the crime prevention field, and the recreation field, and touched on the delinquency field, and so forth, but really the prime thing and the most productive of all these things has been the baseball field—as administered to by the Police Athletic League.

on the right track, with only four dissenting and 19 neutral.

So it goes, down a lengthy list. This near unanimity of editorial opinion is remarkable by any standard. Will Congress and the unions, before it is too late, be smart enough to see as clearly the gravity and urgency of our transportation problems?

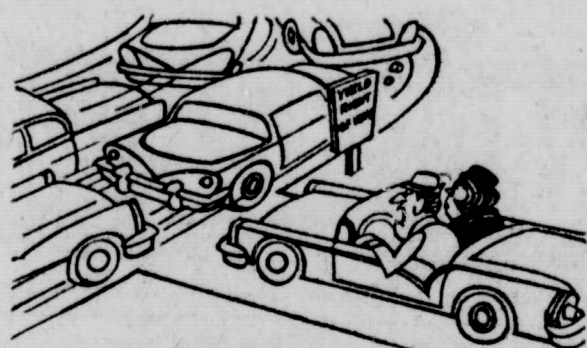

The Bible Builds Bridges--Not Walls

Every day we read of the importance of commerce and industry in our lives. Our system of free enterprise produces more than enough to take care of our needs in all respects, and to help supply deficiencies in other countries. By way of contrast, the "planning" in the communist sphere is not good enough to even furnish its people with sufficient food.

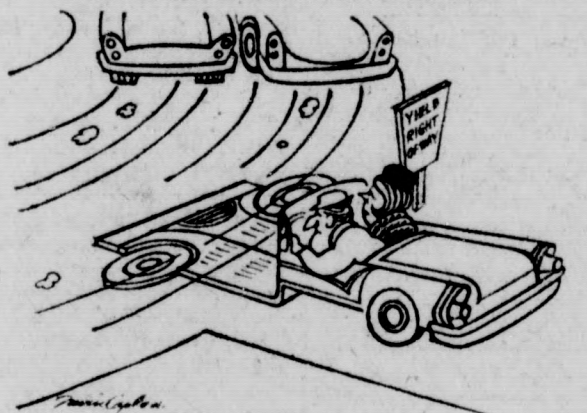

The blessings of a government of, by, and for the people are many. Not the least is freedom of worship, guaranteed in our Constitution.

The 22nd annual observance of National Bible Week takes place October 15-21, sponsored by the Laymen's National Committee, Inc., an all-faiths organization. This year's theme for the week is as timely as it is significant: "The Bible Builds Bridges—Not Walls." The eternal goal of the people of this nation must be to keep building the bridges, and to see that the walls that destroy freedoms—religious, economic, political—can never be erected.

COUNTY DOINGS

by JACK WOOD

The new College of San Mateo campus on College Heights is really a beehive of activity as construction workers strive to complete buildings by the coming Spring.

Although the campus was originally scheduled to be completed last week, construction was delayed by bad weather and a labor construction strike.

More than 4100 students will move from present Delware avenue and Coyote Point campuses when the new buildings are finally completed.

A pilot program to lead to establishment of a central hiring pool for most San Mateo county police agencies is currently being undertaken by the Sheriff's office and the Redwood City Police department.

The county Civil Service commission has started a recruitment and examination schedule to create an employee pool from which officers for the two departments will be hired.

Dismissal of Keith Alsterlind as superintendent of the county's Glenwood boys ranch near La Honda was recently approved by Superior Judge Louis B. Demattei, judge of the juvenile court.

Robert N. McMillin, a supervising probation officer and a six-year member of the probation department, was appointed to succeed Alsterlind.

Given the choice by Chief Probation Officer Loren Beckley of quitting or being fired, Alsterlind chose to fight and requested the hearing before the Juvenile Justice Commission, which governs the affairs of the probation department.

Cancer Society Thanks Papers For Publicity

To the Editor:

With the end of our fiscal year and the start of a new one, this is a logical moment to review the program of the San Mateo County branch of the American Cancer Society.

Such a backward look immediately brings home the importance of the press in our endeavors. As you doubtless know, the basic aims of our organization are research, education and service—at both a local and national level.

Each of these phases of our work would be seriously hurt, if not completely destroyed, without the day to day cooperation of the press. It is obvious that many services would go uncalled upon, many new developments in research unrecognized, and much life-saving information unheard of, were it not for the generous help of the fourth estate.

Our directors have asked me to send along their grateful appreciation of your service in opening the news columns of the Daly City Record and The Westlake Times to our news releases. As we near a discovery of a cure for this dread disease, I pledge that we will continue to try to merit the support of your fine publications.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. LOREN A. CRANSON,
Acting President, San Mateo County branch,
American Cancer Society.

LAW IN ACTION

LANDLORD'S DUTY

Usually the landlord keeps control over some part of rented property. The more he controls, the more he can keep an eye on the tenant's activities, and the more responsibility he has. The area he controls must be safe for the tenant and the public, or else.

As a rule, what is not in the tenant's actual possession, is the landlord's responsibility.

Accidents often happen on stairways, and outside stairways are under the landlord's control if all of the tenants use them; and inside stairways generally are not for the landlord's use but solely for the tenant. Sometimes the landlord will keep some control of inside stairs, say for storage or repair or to get outside. If so, he will be responsible for any defect in these stairways.

Porches, platforms, and decks often cause trouble. If one owner had a large play area. He allowed cars to drive on it to park near the apartment. One car driven there ran over and injured a child. The child sued. The court held the landlord to blame for not any part of them he must properly caring for the keep the whole area in good grounds under his control.

One landlord tied a clothesline which all tenants used to a post on the porch though only one tenant used the porch. The post weakened and hurt one tenant. The court held that by the landlord's clothesline he kept control of the whole porch, and hence was liable for the injury.

The same rule holds true of yards, play areas, and driveways used by many of the tenants or their children.

In one case a large apartment owner had a large play area. He allowed cars to drive on it to park near the apartment. One car driven there ran over and injured a child. The child sued. The court held the landlord to blame for not any part of them he must properly caring for the keep the whole area in good grounds under his control.

BOYS' CLUBS OF AMERICA

"WHEN I GET OLD ENOUGH TO JOIN THAT YOU'RE NEVER GONNA SEE ME AGAIN!"

Something For Everyone

by Samuel Chandler

Here's a book I thoroughly enjoyed — "Kings of the Home Run" by Arthur Daley. Its author is a sports-writer for the New York Times. He has known the 20 baseball players whose life time records of home runs are the greatest in baseball's history. It is also full of facts about these players.

For Example, when World War I started the Boston Red Sox needed hitters so badly they called upon a young pitcher with a whistling fast ball and a wicked curve, a 23-game winner, to pinch hit. That year he hit 29 home runs — 23 more than the batting king of 1902 had hit. He went on to hit 714 homers before he retired. Of course, the man was Babe Ruth.

When the great "Babe" crossed home plate after hitting a "bye, bye baby," he'd say to the "broad-shouldered" man who greeted him: "It's your turn kid." Then Lou Gehrig would step to the batters box and hit another. His life-time total was 493.

When the Giants moved to San Francisco, Willie Mays was discouraged. It is said that he had a lot more fun when he could play stickball with the kids in the streets and shoot pool with his cronies. Then came a game in 1961 when he hit four homers in one game. Only eight players in baseball history have ever done that. As she skipped around the bases after the fourth homer, he shouted with glee: "Imagine me doin' that."

Daley writes: "Willie Howard Mays, Jr., may be the best baseball player of his generation." If San Francisco fans are reluctant to believe it, the Polo Grounds die-hards and Leo Durocher will assure them that it is true.

So Daley's book goes, telling of the great moments and the heart aches in the lives of 20 home run kings. There is a copy in both of Daly City's libraries.

Local Man Completes Metropolitan Convo

John E. Barnhart of 122 North Mayfair avenue, Daly City, an assistant manager in the auditing division in Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's head office in San Francisco, has completed a two-week conference for management personnel at the Hotel St. Moritz in New York City.

The conference is one of several training and development programs Metropolitan conducts for the benefit of home and head office staff members with management responsibilities.

Barnhart is a graduate of Polytechnic High School in San Francisco and the San Francisco Institute of Accountancy. He also is an associate of the Life Office Management Association, and a past-president of the Institute of Internal Auditors, San Francisco area chapter.

He and his wife, Sylvia, have a son, Richard.

top of the hill

By ARTEMUS BIERCE

This coming Friday is Christopher Columbus Day, and this being Daly City, with all of its proud Paisans, it is a pretty important day.

So stepping into our office yesterday was Rufus Bogus, who doesn't claim to be Italian, but does claim to have sailed with old Chris.

Old Rufus dropped in to update us on the story of the Nina, the Pinta and the Santa Maria. He told us that it was a good vintage year, in 1492, with the grapes at the top of the hill (this could be a plug for some fella's column) being plentiful.

He said what really happened was that old Chris was in Madrid to watch the Madrid Bullfighters play the Seville Matadors in the then world series, which didn't quite encompass the whole world.

As usual, the Madrid Bullfighters swept the series in four straight games, and the people were becoming discouraged over the lack of competition present.

It just so happens that Chris was in Madrid Night Club the night the series concluded, doing the gourmet twist, when Queen Isabella came in to enjoy the atmosphere.

Chris, having a natural inclination towards beauty, went over and asked the queen to cha cha cha with him. One thing led to another and she commented on her displeasure at the lack of competition prevalent in the Spanish World Series. Chris, who had some real wild dreams, but not too much cash, told the queen he might be able to drum up some competition in other areas.

She, being a pretty gullible chick, agreed with the idea and set Chris up in a recruiting business—thus making him the first major league talent scout on record.

Chris then engaged the services of Rufus, who at that time was a public relations man in Madrid. Rufus played the deal up as a big scene and got enough crewmen to staff three ships. The Spanish Local No. 207 of the Seaman's Union was a little hesitant to furnish a crew at first, but submitted after Chris promised a Blue Cross plan and all of the overtime they could handle.

So the three ships, staffed with the finest pizza cooks and salami makers in the old world, set sail on the talent mission.

According to Rufus, the men thought that they were going on a routine talent hunt to the East Indies. Columbus, armed with several $100,000 blank contracts, duped the boys and set sail in the vast Atlantic.

At that time, so it seems, there was a fallacious theory circulating that all of the good times were had in the old world. As a matter of fact, the rumor had it that if you strayed from the local pups too far, you might fall over the edge of the world.

After much dissension the boys agreed with Chris and the big happy family moved towards what was soon to be known as America.

Rufus said that he tried to get Columbus to come to the Western side of the United States and land in Daly City, but the Italian skipper was a champion twister and wanted to check out the Peppermint Lounge in New York.

So that is the up-dated story on Christopher Columbus, according to Rufus. This Friday they celebrate his birthday. Just think if his compass had been broken or he had decided to sail to the East Indies for talent after all—we might never be discovered.

Ed Dominion, assistant City Engineer and member of the Daly City Toastmasters Club (those are the guys who get up before the chickens every Thursday morning) was appointed assistant Area Governor at a training session in Burlingame recently. Jim Shea, area governor, appointed Dominion.

The Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce is arranging a program honoring Daly City's doctor Drees. He will not only be honored for his contribution to Daly City, but also for his heroic efforts and sacrifices during World War II when he created a small hospital in the South Pacific from practically nothing.

And at the Jefferson-Mills football game on the Westmoor field last Friday afternoon Westmoor Principal Glenn South and his wife were very vociferous in their cheers for Mills.

Every time Mills would get the ball, the Souths would give them vocal support—especially when numbers 11 and 12 carried the ball.

Reason for this switch of allegiance was that number 11 was Bob South and number 12 was Dick South—the talented and athletic sons of the Souths. Incidentally, the Mills team beat Jeff 20-0.

A. Lincoln PTA Launches Yearly Membership Drive

"Strengthen Your Community—Join The PTA" will be the theme of this year's Abraham Lincoln PTA Membership Drive being held October 23 to 29.

Under the direction of Membership Chairman, Mrs. J. Guthrie, the membership envelopes will be sent to all parents homes along with the PTA paper, "The Lincoln Log."

Participating in PTA activities will help improve scholastic and social conditions for all our children. An excellent example of parent participation was shown at the Sept. PTA meeting, when panel educators discussed, the ungraded schools.

This opened up a lengthy question response from "eager to learn" parents in attendance. Another example of the parent teacher relation is the present curriculum conferences being held at Abraham Lincoln.

These informal evening get-togethers give the teachers the opportunity to explain to the parents their program and the technique being used for the coming year. In this type of relaxed atmosphere with refreshments being served by the PTA, it gives the parent a better understanding of his child school and the working staff.

Music Masters Laud Westmoor

Modern Music Masters, the national music honor Society, this week congratulated the administration and music department personnel of Westmoor High School where chapter No. 518 of the Society is chartered, with Howard Loeffler serving as faculty sponsor.

YWCA Crusade With Donuts

You can give your family and friends a treat this and next week and help your neighbors too by encouraging some exceptionally hard-working United Crusaders to boot!

Very special Halloween and Thanksgiving doughnuts for your family's fun — and for parties too—go on sale Tuesday, October 16, at Hunt's Donut Shop in Westlake — all ready for good eating right now—or for popping in the freezer to have ready for the holidays.

Special feature of the doughnuts, in addition to their being fancy and assorted, is that the manufacturer will turn over the entire profits to the YWCA, as a reward for the agency's leadership this year and last in the United Crusade campaign in San Mateo county. All proceeds will be used to help the YWCA serve women and girls and their families throughout this area.

YWCA members, having already completed their Crusade solicitations this year, will staff the shop on October 16, and are taking advance orders now.

During the discussion, Irving outlined the '62-63 season of which Twelfth Night is the first of seven plays to be presented by the Workshop. Special rates for student theater parties, as well as the assembly program which the group is willing to send to the Bay Area high schools was discussed.

Besides studying the theater as an audience, members of the drama class are gaining experience as actors both in and out of the classroom. While some members of the class are learning technique for their future work in plays of straight drama, others are in the band room with Westmoor's music director, Howard Loeffler, practicing their lines for the musical comedy to open in the Little Theater next semester.

St. Mary's Cathedral Sees Last Visitors

The sanctuary of St. Mary's Cathedral that was destroyed by fire on September 7, was occupied for the last time on Wednesday, October 3, at 9 a.m.

The Most Reverend Joseph T. McGucken, archbishop of San Francisco, met with newsmen to announce plans for the rebuilding of the Mother Church of the Archdiocese and a campaign for funds to expand secondary educational facilities for youth; the building of a new college seminary, and a home for the aged.

Archbishop Announces Expansion Plans

In a setting of ruin and destruction that was once St. Mary's Cathedral, Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken last week announced plans for campaign funds to not only build a new Mother Church but three new schools, a college seminary and a home for the aged.

The capital campaign has a minimum goal of 15 million dollars and will be conducted in the 133 parishes in the Archdiocese of San Francisco. It will be known as the St. Mary's Cathedral Building Fund and the Archdiocesan Development Fund. It is the largest single project in terms of fund raising and construction in the history of the Archdiocese.

Archbishop McGucken Dedicates Holy Angels

ARCHBISHOP Joseph T. McGucken (right) extends congratulations and felicitations to Father Thomas J. Farrell, Pastor of Holy Angels' Church in Colma, following the colorful dedication ceremony held at the newly-constructed church on Sunday, September 23. The new church, seating 1,140, serves the needs of a rapidly-growing parish which has long overflowed the historic building which was its religious center for more than two generations.

Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken officiated at the dedication of the new Holy Angels' Church, Colma, Sunday, September 23.

The colorful, impressive ceremony was witnessed by crowds of parishioners and members of the clergy and religious of the Archdiocese.

The day was a happy occasion for Father Thomas J. Farrell, pastor of Holy Angels, who has labored long and hard to bring into being a church which would serve the needs of his rapidly-growing parish.

The magnificent half-million-dollar edifice has, in its exterior lines and design, the simple beauty characteristic of the mission architecture of early California. The spacious, beautifully-appointed interior, with its mosaic murals, stained glass windows and carved religious figures, tastefully harmonizes the old and the new.

Having a seating capacity of 1,140, the new Holy Angels Church dwarfs the sturdy little building, still standing, which served as the religious center of the parish for more than two generations.

The old church building is being transformed into a parish hall. It will be opened in November as the scene of "Carnival Americana," the Parish Fall Festival, which begins Thursday, November 8, and will run through Sunday, November 11.

As a part of this important program will be the dedication of the Bishop Charles Brent assembly hall. Bishop Brent was the first Episcopal bishop of the Philippines and was elected to that office during the first meeting of the general convention held west of the Mississippi, in 1901. That meeting was held at Trinity Church.

Temple Judea Women Will Decorate Succah

Those who are driving by Brotherhood Way in San Francisco this Friday, October 12, will see a long booth decorated with greenery and fruits. The origin of this booth goes back to Biblical days. The booth, large enough to seat 350 people is being built under the direction of Zel Baer, a vice president of Temple Judea's Brotherhood. Mrs. Walter Kaplan of Temple Judea Sisterhood, is heading a group of 60 women who will be decorating the Succah Booth.

Services for the Congregation will be held in the Succah Booth at 8 p.m. on Friday. Of added significance to this Holiday, will be the Bar Mitzvah of Paul Chernock, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Chernock, who will chant from the Torah.

The Succah is a symbol of the harvest and the Feast of Tabernacles is a feast of Thanksgiving. Historians tell us that the Jewish Feast of Tabernacles was the inspiration of the American Feast of Thanksgiving. When the devout Pilgrim Fathers, their hearts filled with gratitude because they had survived to see the harvest, sought some way to express their feelings, they turned to the Bible and read, "... when ye have gathered in the fruits of the land, ye shall keep the feast of the Lord ..."

There is much evidence that the founding Fathers compared themselves with the children of Israel. They thought of George III as Pharaoh and the Atlantic Ocean as the Red Sea. As a matter of fact, a committee including Jefferson and Franklin, suggested a seal for the infant republic depicting the crossing of the Red Sea with the inscription, "Rebellion to tyrants is obedience to God."

The Service in the Succah will be conducted by Rabbi Herbert Morris and Cantor Harold Wachter.

Presbyterian Pastor Has Busy Calendar

"I don't know just what I'd do if I ever lost this notebook," declared Reverend Herbert Tweedie of Broadmoor Presbyterian Church in Colma. His notebook display was in way of announcing the busy calendar of events at the 87th street church. The entries in the well-used pages are probably useful only to the pastor, however, being a combination of the cryptic and the microscopic.

Tweedie announced the reformation of an Adult Bible Study Class, to be held twice weekly, Wednesday evenings at 7, and Thursday mornings at 10. At the morning session, there will be infant care available.

"Before we had two morning worship services here," said Mr. Tweedie, "we used to have such a class before the 11 o'clock service. It was called the Coffee Class, was very informal, a come-as-you-are group—and we had coffee and fellowship before sitting down to study and discuss the Bible. Whether we'll have coffee at these meetings will depend on those attending. As for me, it makes no difference. I make many calls on members and friends of the church each day, and at every home I'm offered coffee. I won't be the first one to put the pot on."

Beginning this Wednesday night, and immediately following the Bible study at 8 p.m., the Broadmoor church is commencing a six-weeks' communicants class for the instruction and interest of new and prospective members. The hour-long meeting will stress church history and organization in addition to the basic doctrine of the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Tweedie turned to the next crammed page and interpreted the news of a second Family Night Pot-Luck Supper this Friday evening at 6:30 p.m., sponsored by the Elders of the church, and chairmanned by John Rued.

"I asked John what the program would be following the supper," said Rev. Tweedie, "and I took out my notebook to write it down. John began to tell me all the things that the elders had planned, but I only had two lines to write on, and two more meetings to note, so I left it out."

There are two morning worship services at Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 9:30 and 11, with Sunday School for all ages at the same hours, and infant care provided.

Westside Baptist Plans Sunday School Attendance Contest

In cooperation with the Baptist General Conference "Sunday School Enlargement Program" which begins Sunday October 14, the Westside Baptist Church Sunday School announces a Sunday School Attendance Contest which will run through November 25. The theme of the Contest will be "Over The Goal" and the goal which has been set by the Sunday School, is 100 by November 25th.

Alton Swedberg the Sunday School Superintendent invites all those in the community who do not attend Sunday School to come and enroll in a Sunday School class. Special recognition will be given the one bringing the most first timers to Sunday School during the contest.

Beginning Sunday morning October 14 Mr. Swedberg the Superintendent will teach a Teacher Training Class, using as a textbook, "Charting the Course." This course is for Sunday School Teachers, substitute teachers, and especially for those interested in teaching, but desiring some training.

In keeping with the Sunday School contest theme, the Pastor will speak on the topic, "Go Tell Others," at the 11 a.m. Morning Worship Hour. Also at that service those present will have the privilege of hearing Mr. Cecil Cooper of Linda Mar, as he brings several special sacred solos. In the Evening Gospel Hour, there will be congregational singing, a time for testimonies, then the Pastor continuing in his series of messages on Baptist Beliefs, speaks on "The Depravity Of Man."

Beginning Wednesday evening, October 10, the Midweek Prayer and Bible Study meets at 7:45 p.m., rather than on the previously scheduled night of Thursday. This week the group meets at the Sturdevant home, 111 Adrian avenue, South San Francisco.

Saturday October 13 beginning at 10:30 a.m., the Northern California Baptist Conference

Brilliant autumn colors holiday reds and greens dominated last week's YWCA show at Westlake Bowl as a capacity crowd enjoyed the lovely fall fashions from Casual Aire. Rating oh's and ah's too, were the high fashion hair styles by Westlake Beauty Salon and Altheas. A show stopper was Ginny Wilson in a glittering imported white sequin sweater topped royal blue chiffon. A lovely double knit wool modeled by Margaret Papazian. Autumn brown and beige shown by Ann Johnson in a smart bolero suit. With the feeling of the holidays a sparkling cocktail dress of white and gold won by Phyllis Odenthal. Pet Smith showed a striking Italian knit suit of black with white trim. High fashion color olive in smart sweater, skirt, blouse combination modeled by Beverly Garner. Again with the glitter of gold, a glamorous gold and black dinner dress topped by exquisite black jeweled sweater worn by Pearl Bradshaw. Another show stopper Maxie Sweat in exotic simulated leopard coat over double knit suit. Brilliant green coat with fox cuffs and collar worn by Marcia McGuirk. Quite lovely was Vivian Hultgren in mint-trimmed brown simulated fur jacket topped soft beige jersey dress. Outstanding too was an unusual print jacket-sweater over camel skirt modeled by Sherry Christensen and exotic black chiffon modeled by Gladys Holton.

"Me? What have I done?" Exclaimed our community leader this week, when we managed to corner her between dashes to all the different activities in which she is involved.

Again we find a dedicated community leader who has given countless hours to many worthwhile community activities and given with such enthusiasm and zest that she is an inspiration to all whom come in contact with her.

One of the hard working YWCA girls, she is now Northern San Mateo County Chairman and on the board of the San Francisco YWCA. In addition she is coordinator and teacher for the Y's creative play groups which have grown from an original group of 30 little tots to over 300. Also during past years she has served as publicity chairman, and is chairman for the coming donut sale to be held on October 16.

Other community activities include room mother for Daniel Webster PTA for two years and is a substitute teacher at St. Martin's Episcopal church school.

We salute Doris Fox our community leader of the week. Residents of the area for six years, the Fox family (husband Hal is a teacher at Luther Burbank Junior High) and two sons, Mitch and Perry live in St. Francis Heights.

Monkeys To Wed Oct. 28 In DC

by Jack Wood

Monkey business on its most beautiful scale will grace Daly City social life October 28 when the local Simian Society holds a wedding for two of the long-tailed set at 22 Hillcrest drive in Daly City.

Tina Lea, one-year-old Peruvian monk owned by Mrs. Jack Lopez, 74 Bepler street, has consented to be the wife of Andy, formerly a confirmed bachelor, but now the love-stricken future groom, owned by Carolyn Oh Leyer, 135 Santa Anna.

The bride will be dressed in swinging fashion.

She will be wearing a white lace gown and white veil with mink cape and hat (undergarments, of course, will have a hole for her tail).

The future benedict will present her with a ring. Susan, a Capuchin monkey, will be the bridesmaid.

A wedding cake, reception and refreshments of the soft kind will follow the ceremony. A monkey preacher will be provided and there will be other monkey bridesmaids, wearing pink dresses.

Following the wedding, the happy couple will be whisked away in a Cadillac.

Mrs. Lopez said the bride will be wearing arm-length gloves with the fingers out.

"That's the style, you know." Although Daly City Chapter 11 of the Simian Society will receive proceeds from the wedding as a fund raising drive, the whole thing, according to Mrs. Lopez originally started out "as a joke."

"I love those woolly monkeys so much I told Carolyn when she gets a male one, mine and hers should get married."

The Simian Society will charge $1 for adults and 50 cents for children to view the ceremonies. Funds will go for building a sanctuary for unwanted monkeys.

By GARRY NIVER

Next Tuesday night, weather permitting, San Francisco and Northern California fistic fans will be treated to one of the finest fights ever to be held in this area.

World middleweight titleholder Gene Fullmer joins number one contender Dick Tiger in the squared ring at Candlestick Park for a 15 rounder for the middleweight championship of the world.

The controversial Fullmer will probably be the underdog from both the bookies and the cheering fans point of view. The majority of the fistic aficionados who will be flocking into Candlestick will be there to see Fullmer get beat. The champ's mauling, but effective, style has always made him some sort of ogre in the mind of the majority of the fans.

Unfortunately, these people fail to realize that Fullmer, though he may look unorthodox and untalented at times, is the best champion in boxing today. Before you get upset, let us clarify this. We didn't say he is the best fighter or boxer—we said the best champion.

Fullmer has always fought the man deserving of his title and has never side-stepped a tough bout—as do the majority of other champs with the exception of featherweight champ Davy Moore.

PAUL PENDER
... easy way out

In the six years he has reigned as middle kingpin, he has always given the deserving contender the chance. He has taken on Joey Giardello, Sugar Ray, Spider Webb, Florentino Fernandez, and Carmen Basilio.

Fullmer could probably have gotten a bout with so-called champ Paul Pender, and he would have had a much, much easier time than he will next Tuesday night when he slips out of his robe at Candlestick.

But he chose to fight Tiger, who is perhaps the best middleweight in the world today. Fullmer had trouble with Florentino Fernandez in a title bout in 1961. Tiger salted Fernandez away in eight rounds, breaking the latter's back.

There is no doubt in our minds that this will be the toughest fight of Fullmer's career. Even tougher than the one in 1957 when Sugar Ray put a left-hook sleeper on the champ to make him an ex-champ.

Another thing going against Gene is that he has been in a lot of tough fights which are bound to take something out of him. Fullmer is a take-two-for-one guy, meaning he will come in open taking two punches to deliver one.

Tiger, on the other hand, is as rough and tough as they come and Fullmer should have trouble in pushing him around the ring. Tiger usually comes straight at his man, never dancing from side to side, and starts firing with vicious body punches and hard hooks to the head.

Tiger has made his way steadily up the ladder to the number one contender's spot. Pender has seemed to side-step the Nigerian battler, and for obvious reasons—he's too tough for fireman Paul.

Tiger, whose real name is Richard Ihetu, has been going through sparring partners like Leo Nomellini goes through spaghetti. They don't seem to stick around the gym too long after one session with Tiger.

So next Tuesday night, at 7:30 p.m., is a date to mark on the calendar. It is the day that fistic greatness returns to Northern California fans, after a conspicuous absence. And we believe that it will be one of the greatest middleweight fights of modern times.

Both have sturdy jaws and both hit with authority. It is being billed as the top title fight of the year—inclusive of all divisions.

Oh yes, our prediction. We believe that Tiger will wear down Fullmer with body punches and proceed to chill courageous Gene in the 13th round. We could be wrong, but that is what makes boxing so exciting.

Even if Fullmer does lose this one, he will go down in our mind as one of the top champions of the present day. He is a battler and side-steps no one—not even Richard Ihetu.

ON THE SIDELINES . . . John Christgan, former basketball star at SF State under Paul Randell, has been named cage coach at San Bruno's new Crestmoor High School.

And another Gator cager, Lou Signer, is currently doing his student coaching at South SF's El Camino High School.

Daly City's colorful City Councilman Bob St. Clair has been selected by Police Gazette Magazine as a member of their 1962 All-Pro football team. The editors describe it as, "the roughest, toughest strongest football squad in history."

Daly City's Vince DeBono has been added to the list of successful local hunters. Bagged a buck in the north country last week.

El Camino High School coaches Tom McCormick, Bob Sexton and Harry Pitkoff were on the wrong side at the recent Minnesota-49er game. The three mentors were on the Viking player bench with Coach Norm Van Brocklin.

Reason is that McCormick, former teammate of Van Brocklin, was an assistant coach this summer at the Viking training camp in Minnesota.

Women's Regional Golf Tournament

Entries are now being accepted for the sixth annual Women's Regional Golf Tournament at Tilden Park Golf Course, Berkeley, scheduled Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 15 and 16.

Mrs. J. C. Guffy of Berkeley and Mrs. W. L. Eadie of San Leandro, co-captains of Tilden Women's Golf Club, are in charge of arrangements.

According to Mrs. Guffy, from 60 to 80 entries are expected from Northern California women golfers, based on previous tournaments. She said an entry fee of $5.50 will include green fee and an award luncheon Oct. 16.

As an incentive to entrants, there will be $300 in valuable merchandise given as prizes.

Indians Meet Terra Nova Friday

The Jefferson Indians aren't too happy with their "adopted home," the Westmoor High School field. As a matter of fact, you might say they are down-right discouraged with it.

Coach Joe McGrath's crew, whose own field is being renovated this year, made their "home" debut on the Ram field last Friday and came up with a goose-egg, succumbing to the Mills Vikings, 20-0.

This Friday the locals get a chance to travel, as they journey over the hill into Pacifica for a game with the Terra Nova Tigers. Both teams are coming off losses, Terra Nova dropping a 35-13 decision to Aragon High School last Friday afternoon. Kick-off time is 3 p.m.

Friday's game will be a practice encounter, although both teams are members of the North Peninsula League which opens up its season the following week, October 19. Ironically, Jefferson's opening opponent on October 19 is also Terra Nova, giving Jeff two cracks at the Tigers in two consecutive weeks.

McGrath was not at all pleased with last week's performance, saying it was "the lousiest game I have seen all year."

"If we don't get more blocking in this week's game against Terra Nova, we can expect to get spanked hard," the Indian mentor predicted.

Despite the dismal performance Friday, McGrath did see a few bright spots. He was especially pleased over the defensive work of center Daryl Crist. The 210 pound Indian co-captain made many key tackles, thus holding down a Viking score which could have gone higher.

McGrath also cited the backfield work of halfback Ed Nathan. The slender halfback accounted for 20 yards in nine carries and almost broke away for long gainers several times. Al Lefcavage was the top Indian back of the day, lugging the ball for 35 yards in seven carries, for a bristling 5.0 average.

In last week's contest it was the South brothers, Bob and Dick, who upset the appellation for the locals. With Bob playing quarterback and Dick playing halfback, the two combined to send Jeff down to defeat.

Dick scampered 48 yards in the second quarter to set up the first score. Bob did his part by pitching a 19-yard aerial to end Lynn Deedler. The Vikes scored again as the half-time buzzer sounded, giving them a 13 to 0 lead.

The final TD came in the fourth period when Mills' Rod Nichols intercepted a pass and brought it back to the Jeff 14. Reserve quarterback Bill Sexton hit Deedler for the score.

Jeff threatened several times but each time their drive was thwarted by an intercepted pass or a fumble.

In the Terra Nova game, coach Floyd Gonella's charges bowed 35-13 to the undefeated Aragon Dons. The chief nemesis of the Tigers was the fumble as they lost the ball six times to the Dons.

Despite the loss, Manuel Pick, the guard converted to quarterback, gave indication of a Terra Nova air game as he hit on three out of nine passes for 62 yards. Included were two touchdowns slings, a 14 yarder to halfback Don Cook and a 12 yarder to halfback Bob Wedymiller.

Dennis Caruthers was the workhorse for the Tigers as he ground out 49 yards in 12 carries. Halfback Fred Mason garnered 27 on the ground and picked up an additional 44 yards on two pass receptions.

Bearcat II Invades South SF

Warrior coach Ray DeJong is trying to teach his boys the importance of the football this week. You can't win games if you don't have the ball—this is what the South San Francisco High School gridders found out last Friday night when they succumbed to Capuchino, 26-6.

The Warriors' possession of the ball was limited to 36 plays during the course of the night, while the visiting Mustangs hogged the pigskin for 66 plays.

One thing the SSF team can be thankful for . . . that Capuchino is no longer in the same league with them. Although it meant much more to their personal pride, on the record the ball game goes down as just another practice contest.

This Friday night, the San Mateo Bearcats, another Mid-Peninsula League team, march into Clifford Field for an 8 p.m. tussle with the hungry blue and white defenders.

While the Warriors were taking their lumps, both mental and physical, from Capuchino last Friday night, the Bearcats drew a bye and were getting plenty of rest.

San Mateo, currently in a rebuilding year, will be looking for their first victory. The team from the county's largest city has bowed to Woodside and Carlmont.

In last week's contest against Cap, the Warriors had trouble hanging onto the ball during the first half. They either ran out of gas on their drives or fumbled into their opponents' hands.

The one bright spot for South San Francisco was the running of 192-pound fullback Steve Balopolos, who didn't make his appearance until the third quarter, and when he did, the locals started rolling.

He first brought the fans to their feet on a scintillating 39-yard romp through Mustang tacklers in the third period. However, a Warrior fumble thwarted the drive.

It wasn't until late in the fourth quarter that the South SF crew was able to sustain a drive. It was the workhorse drives of Balopolos and Jim Shutz which succeeded in moving the locals on an 87-yard drive.

The march was culminated with 2:25 left in the game, when Balopolos boomed over from the one-yard line.

Altogether, Balopolos accounted for 62 yards in seven carries for an 8.8-yard average per carry. Shutz took the ball 35 yards in six carries for a 5.8-yard average.

Cap's Jim O'Keefe was the hero of the night, rushing for 119 yards and scoring three touchdowns. The speedy back was almost impossible to bring down.

JEFFERSON COACH Joe McGrath (center) demonstrates his strategy to Indian co-captain Rich Waller (left) and Nova. The Indians meet the Tigers in a non-league contest at 3:15 Friday on the TN field.

Ogden Paces Alta Loma In SSF Flag Football

The South San Francisco recreation and parks department's 1962 football program got off to a flying start Saturday as play opened in four divisions.

Eighth Grade Flag Football
A strong scoring performance by Bob Ogden sparked Alta Loma to a 43-20 win over a big Hillsdale team in the Eighth Grade Flag Football loop, while Orange Park romped to a 27-6 win over Brentwood Park in the other eighth grade game.

Ogden paced the Alta Loma win when he rambed for three touchdowns on runs of 70, 45 and 5 yards. He also passed for three more six pointers, connecting twice to Rudy Knapp for 45 and 30 yards, and hitting Denny Welch with a 25-yard scoring toss.

Seventh Grade Flag Football
Buri Buri Park, with John De Angelis scoring three times on runs of 45, 36 and 10 yards, downed Winston Playground, 25 to 6, in the Seventh Grade loop. DeAngelis also passed to John Lucia on a 45-yard scoring play to account for Buri Buri's final TD.

Fifth and Sixth Grades
The Boys Club rolled to a 26-6 win over Orange Park in the Fifth and Sixth Grade Flag League, while Sunshine Gardens was downing Hillsdale, 32 to 12, and Brentwood was

Oceans Meets Galileo In Practice Game

After taking a much-deserved rest last week, Coach Jess Jones' Oceans Sharks re-group and go sailing up the coast to San Francisco for a Friday afternoon tussle with Galileo.

Kick-off time is 3:15 p.m. The Sharks, unable to find the win column to date, losing to Jefferson, 39-13, and Lick Wilderding, 33-0, will be the strong underdogs.

The new schedule opens its league schedule next week, meeting favored Westmoor on October 19.

awarded a forfeit win over Alta Loma.

Bob Lucas scored twice on runs of six and 12 yards, and hit Karl Jeppsen with a pass for a third TD in the Sunshine win, to highlight fifth and sixth grade play.

Fourth Grade and Under
The Rams posted a 12-0 win over the Tigers in the Fourth Grade and Under loop, as they scored twice in the second half.

Michael Burke intercepted a pass on the Tiger 10 and ran it over for the final score after Lauren Gava put the Rams out in front with an 18 yard TD romp.

Westmoor Cagers Lose Close Tilt To Serra

Although coming within two points, time and again, the Westmoor Ram 120 cagers' final quarter spurge was not enough as they bowed to Serra, 34-32, last Thursday on the Serra court.

Down by 14 points in the second quarter, the Rams, behind the ball handling of Jim Fair, the high scoring ability of John Putman, and the rebounding of Joaquin Andrade, started their comeback. But the all-around ability of the Pad's Tom Ganley kept Serra in the lead. Ganley wound up with 11 points to the Westmoor's Putman for high point honors.

Westmoor's cause was hindered by three technical fouls.

Leading most of the way, the rambling Ram 10s had better luck. The game was a seesaw battle with Westmoor winning, 22-19.

Newcomer Ken Liss sparked the Rams to victory. His rebounding was instrumental in the victory and he scored six points.

High-scoring honors also belonged to Westmoor. Tim Corcoran took honors with 12 points.

Earlier in the week, the Westmoor Ram 110 and 120 cagers were kicked in the mouth for the second time by Lincoln's Mustangs. The 110s were completely put down, 43-26, while the 20s salvaged a 43-36 defeat.

Ram 110s were led by Ken Liss and Craig Castro, who scored nine and seven points, respectively.

Ram's 120s color bearers battled back from a first half deficit only to be pushed down in the last minutes by free-throw shooting of Freely of the Mustangs, who scored 19. Jim Fair came back to his winning form of last year by hitting for 13 points while being closely

Bulldogs Vs. Oakland City College Harriers

College of San Mateo hosts its first home cross country meet Friday afternoon on a three-mile course around the Coyote Point campus. Spectators will be able to watch the last half of the race from the practice football field at the Point. The race starts at 4 p.m. on the Coyote Point levee.

Invading Oakland City College is the Bulldogs' hope for their first Golden Gate Conference victory. The Thunderbirds are led by 5:26 miler Kevin Calandrie, and freshman Ken Kirkaldie and Dave Crew.

An injury plagued CSM squad was joined by San Jose City College, 16-42, in last Friday's league opener. Foothill downed Diablo Valley in last week's only other Golden Gate Conference race.

Pacifica Volleyball

The first volleyball organizational meeting, sponsored by the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department, is to be held October 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall council chambers.

All organizations, clubs, and groups are to send on team representatives to the meeting, the purpose of which is to organize a winter volleyball league.

Pacifica Man 2nd In Auto Racing

With just two more nights of championship points, top drivers in both divisions will be pressing in Friday night's doubleheader auto races at Alviso Speedway.

The point chase will end on Friday night, October 19, with double points to be awarded and with the main events lengthened to 30 laps instead of the usual 20.

In last week's hardtop events, Paul Orr of San Jose won his eighth main event victory of the season, closing the gap by a dozen points on point leader Jack Epperson of Milpitas, second in the main.

Still in contention for the Western Auto Racing hardtop title is Whitey White of San Jose, third in standings. White held on with a fifth place in last week's feature.

The NASCAR claiming stock car race has narrowed to two drivers, neither of whom drove last week. Jim Clennan of Santa Clara, with six main event wins this season, leads the point standings over Ron McMillan of Pacifica.

Winner of last week's main event was Ed Hopper of San Jose, his first main event victory in his short driving career, followed by Bill Hobbs of San Jose.

Between Games

Movies are better than ever. That is to say, movies shown to all kinds of football teams and players across the land.

Game filming certainly has proved itself as one of the best contributions to the game since the forward pass. Now a coach needn't tell his players what they're doing wrong . . . he can show them.

It's quite a shock when a player sees his mistakes, instead of being told about them. A griddier can't alibi his way out.

Movies really do their job when it comes to studying the opposition. A coach can make a dozen diagrams on the blackboard, and he can tell the players that they will be facing rough customers the coming Saturday. But players arouse their competitive spirit when they can see their enemy and can evaluate their weaknesses.

There's little doubt about the values in game filmings. It has helped make a more entertaining game and it has created better play execution. And it has also helped our high school, college and pro players become more analytical. So most certainly, game filmings have contributed greatly toward educating our football players for when they enter other walks of life.

Notes: Seein's, believin', according to the above comment on football movies. And the same holds true with present day Pop Warner League football—you have to see it, to believe it! It's a far cry from the "peanut brand" of football that was played at halftime of college and pro games at Kezar Stadium 15 years ago.

Warner ball, particularly that played by the San Francisco Powergliders, San Bruno Rams and Santa Clara Hornets, is really something. The coaching and preception is superior (in many cases) to high school football.

First thing all-time Yankee star Yogi Berra did when he got into town last week for the opening games of the World Series was to drive down to Charlie Silvera's home in San Bruno. Silvera, a former Yank Yank catcher and a '41 St. Ignatius grad, has been palsy with Yogi for years. "I'm going to spend most of my time (off the diamond) at Charlie's house . . . I love his kids," Yogi said . . . Incidentally, Silvera is now a scout for the Washington Senators.

Giant pitcher Bob Garibaldi, who would have been a shoo-in for All-Coast honors in basketball at Santa Clara, will join Mike McCormick in the Giants Arizona Winter League. Then the two will play together in a Peninsula basketball league, which tips-off in December.

Luke Quay of the Pittsburgh Press says that South San Francisco's Howie Goss should have at least split his time with Bill Virdon in the Pirate outfield this season. "Virdon hit .240 and Murtaugh (Danny) still didn't give Goss a shot," Luke comments.

Garry Schumacher, publicity director for the Giants, did a fabulous job of preparing for the World Series. "The Governor" slept a total of six hours in two hectic days and nights before the season opened here. And to think that all that work (and money) would have gone down the drain if we lost the pennant.

Another note on the World Series facilities here. No park in baseball could match the photo service made available to the world's shutter-bugs at Candlestick. All the photographers "souped" there stuff right on the scene, thanks to Horace Stoneham. It was the Giant prexy's idea to build it . . . Truman Clevenger, Yankee pitcher and former Fresno State phenom, works as a farmer on the off-season in Visalia.

The Catholic Athletic League, which enlists only six football teams, had a vintage crop in '59. Doing quite well on the collegiate gridirons this year are ex-Serra stars, end Clayton Stephens (Notre Dame) and QB Bob Kane (San Jose St.), former Bellarmine High prep All-America's, fullback Jim Josephson (Oregon) and guard John LaCurto (UCLA) and last, but not least, ex-St. Mary's High guard Mickey Ordning (Oregon).

Great Moments in Sports

October, 1950—St. Mary's Gaelic John Henry Johnson springs loose on 67 yard touchdown run to stun nationally ranked Georgia with 7-7 tie in night game at Kezar, viewed by only 10,000. Georgia came west claiming "we can't get excited about playing a bunch of high school kids."

Daly City Man Honored With Greyhound Driving Award

Ten years ago Allen F. Perry of P. O. Box 426, Daly City, donned the grey-blue uniform of a Greyhound driver. Since that time he has transported his passengers over more than 750,000 miles of western highway—without a recorded incident to mar a perfect safe driving record.

To honor Perry for his 10-year safe driving record, a Safety Award Certificate, new shoulder insignia bearing the numeral "10," and the gift of a gold watch have been authorized by Stan A. Ossman, Director of Safety for Greyhound's 11-state western division.

"Such a record of safe driving—reflecting the fact that he had never been involved in a preventable accident—deserves the highest commendation," states Ossman. "It is additional proof that with Greyhound, safety is of paramount concern and the reason why safety-education is a never-ending program.

"Greyhound drivers are men possessed of a keen sense of responsibility, thoroughly trained for the job, and are provided with equipment incorporating

VIRUS CAUSES CHILD'S DEATH

A virus was listed as the cause of death of James B. Campbell, 1½ month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Campbell, Sr., 10 Forest Grove Daly City on Oct. 3.

Daly City firemen administered emergency oxygen treatment to the infant, however, the child was dead on arrival at Junipero Serra Hospital.

Coroner's officers said the child died from a quick acting virus which commonly strikes infants of this age.

WESTMOOR'S Mike DeBernardi will lead the Ram gridgers into the toughie with Serra High School this Friday at 3:15 p.m. on the Westmoor field. DeBernardi raced for 89 yards in Westmoor's 20-6 win over Burlingame last Friday.

It's SPARE TIME

at Westlake Bowl

By JIM GREALISH

More than 100 ladies were on hand for the first YWCA Fashion Show-Luncheon of the season as Mona Baker provided a highly descriptive and interesting commentary on the fashions of Casual Aire of Westlake. The next show is scheduled for November 1.

Young Bruce Russell set a new record for Bantams when he rolled a big 255 game in last week's Junior competition.

Eleven year old Bruce broke the record while bowling a two game series of 400.

Chief of Police Lou Petrocchi again demonstrated his athletic ability last week. Having mastered golf, he turned to bowling and led the Daly City Employees League with games of 198-218-201 for a 617 series.

Tom McCue joined the 600 Club without a pin to spare in the Sleepers League. With a 243 high game, he ended with an even 600 series total.

Idele Newell upheld the honor of the fairer sex in the 99's Mixed Fives League as she shot a 228 game and 563 series while Dick Hayes and Mel Steinberg led the men with 212/563 and 201/564, respectively.

Al Ertsatt broke 200 in all three games as he registered a 614 series on games of 201-213-200 in the Ball and Chain Mixed Fives while Shirley Worthington led the ladies with a 213 game and 514 series. Westlake Bowlers will start competing for entries in the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America All-Star Tournament next Saturday at 4 p. m. With an entry fee of $5 for four games, bowlers will be competing for eight $25 entries in the qualifying round. One paid entry will be awarded for each ten bowlers competing.

Westlake is growing and so is the Westlake Bowl. Due to the increase in the number of small babies in our nursery this year, a "Crib Room" will be added to the existing nursery, thereby making a separate room for the children in cribs and giving more play area to the other children.

Bowlers are cleaning out their closets, getting ready for the clothing drive for the needy overseas. During the period from November 1 to 18, bowling centers in northern California will collect old bowling shirts (and other usable clothing) for distribution to the needy in all parts of the world.

Phil Symonds had no problem with the pins as he shot a 244 game en route to a 684 series in the 850 Majors.

Mae Morales joined the 550 Club and almost made the 600 Club in the Ladies' 800 Scratch League last week as she posted a terrific 595 series on a high game of 209.

The Westlake Minor League provided a tie for high series honors as both John Dallara and John McClelland posted a 564 series, while John Dallara's 204 game took top honors in that department.

"Mr. Petersen Point" Frank Hubert led his league last Tuesday with a 213 game and 604 series.

It was three of a kind for Ray Spina as he rolled a 222 game in the Southwest Handicap League. Ray also became a member of the 600 Club with a 603 series.

On the opening night of the Broadmoor Mixed Fives League Bob Johnson and Sharon Sylvester led the strikes parade. Sharon had a 203 game and 558 series while Bob's high game was 217 in a 569 series.

Mac Stewart keeps knocking on the door of the 600 Club—one of these days he'll get in with a bang. In the Golden Gate Handicap last week he shot a big 224 game and 599 series.

Don Tobin made his comeback an effective one by gaining membership in the 600 Club with a 627 series in the 805 Scratch League.

CSM Meets Contra Costa JC

The battle of victory streaks takes place Saturday afternoon at San Mateo High School. College of San Mateo, riding a 12 game mark, hosts six-game winner Contra Costa at 2 o'clock on the San Mateo High School turf.

San Mateo's streak is the longest in current California junior college ranks while Contra Costa is believed second in victories only to CSM in northern California.

The Comets have averaged better than 20 points per game in taking their first three starts of 1962 and last three games in 1961 after losing to San Mateo, 54-6, on a wet evening in Richmond.

Ironically, Contra Costa is also the last team to beat the Bulldogs in conference competition, turning the trick by an 8-6 score in mid-1959. San Mateo has dropped only practice contests to San Jose (1960) and Pasadena (1961) since that time, winning 18 straight conference games.

Vince Maiorana's Comets probably have more experience behind them than any other California junior college team. Seven starters return from last year's squad which finished in a three-way tie for second in the Big Eight behind CSM (at 5-2).

Only non-letter winner on the starting eleven is 6-2, 205 freshman left end Ed Hoeffer. However, opposite Hoeffer is second team all-Big Eight end O. C. Emerson (6-3, 215), a favorite target of quarterback Ron Melton.

"We're more effective this year," Maiorana claims. "We've scored more points in the first three games this year than in the first six games last year. Our backs are running much harder."

Fullback Bob Battle (5-10, 215) and right half Roger Martinez (5-8, 180) are the Comet ground leaders. San Mateo head coach Doug Scovill, who scouted the Richmond team the past two weeks claims "Battle is one of the best fullbacks we'll meet all year."

"Halfback Jerry Strong runs well, too, and is hard to get down," added Scovill. Strong can toss the ball, too. In last Saturday's 20-8 Comet victory over Oakland, Strong passed to Emerson for the eventual winning touchdown.

Maiorana feels that the current CSM team is on a par with the 1961 squad, which was rated fourth in the nation. The Bulldogs were ranked fifth in the country among 150 rated junior colleges by both the Junior College Grid-Wire and the Williamson Rating Service prior to last week's 42-0 smashing of Diablo Valley in their Golden Gate Conference opener.

Scovill thought his Bulldogs didn't play as well as they are capable of playing in the Diablo Valley melees, despite the score. "But we took advantage of Diablo's mistakes," he added.

Balboa grad Bob Zmak, who now lives in San Bruno, stole a Viking fumble on the first play of Saturday's game and five plays later CSM was out in front for good at 8-0 on Claude McMullen's four yard TD scamper and Clarence Hamel's PAT run.

Diablo Valley got the ball twice again in the first half, driving to a first down on the CSM six before Ron Witschey came on to stop them on the four and then steal the ball on another fumble.

It was Hamel's turn to grab a fumble next, picking up a loose ball and racing 60 yards to the end zone. However, the ball was ruled dead and the Mateans had to be content to launch an eight-play drive with Hamel getting his six points, anyway, from nine yards around left end.

The passing of Rick Norman to former Mills High School all-American end Bill Garehime highlighted San Mateo's drives. Freshman quarterback Gene Scattini, also from Mills, hooked up with Garehime on a 24 yarder, too.

Veteran McMullen played what Scovill labeled "one of his best games." Besides his ball carrying duties, sprinter McMullen, from Tennyson High School in Hayward, caught a 21-yard pass and returned a punt 79 yards for a TD.

Also getting in on the touchdown parade were Scattini and Jefferson's Sam Ennon, on respective one and three yard runs. Norman scored a TD and a conversion to bring his season's point total to ten.

Line coach Giffin singled out center John Scott from Woodside and ex-Capuchino guard Wayne Cappa for their blocking and offensive play. Both Scovill and Giffin were impressed by the line work of Burlingame's Bob McElhany on defense.

USAC Midgets To Race At San Jose

Arrangements were completed today for bringing the United States Auto Club National 110 Offy midgets and their nationally known drivers to San Jose Speedway for a full program of races on Sunday afternoon, October 21.

Bob Barkhimer, speedway manager, said the last appearance of the USAC midgets in the area was in 1956. Negotiations for the coming program have been underway for three months.

About 5 cars are expected to compete for the guaranteed purse of $1500 against 40 per cent of the net gate receipts. Many of these cars will be piloted by drivers who have competed in the Indianapolis Memorial Day "500."

Current point leader in the USAC National 110 Offy Division is Jimmie Davies, of Indianapolis, Ind., who is scheduled to appear. Davies is the USAC national champion for 1961 in this division.

Ram Harriers Sweep Oceana

Westmoor's first league meeting proved much tougher than expected as the varsity Ram harriers squeaked by a surprisingly strong Oceana team, 28-29, last Thursday on Oceana's course.

Junior Dennis Tracy again led the way with a time of 10:58 over the two-mile course. His victory did not come easily, as the Sharks' Bob Skrifriar finished only two seconds behind Tracy. Continuing to show his promise for the future, sophomore Bob Beukers brought third position to the Rams with a time of 11:21.

A last minute entry into var-

The program will open at 1 p.m. with warmups, followed by three-lap qualifying time trials at 1:30. There will be four 10 lap heat races, a semifinal event and a 50-lap main event for the 18 fastest qualifiers, fastest time drivers at the rear of the field.

sity competition, freshman Milo Torres, captured seventh place, with Ed Raymond and Roy Pinnell close behind in eighth and ninth, respectively.

Although the varsity usually receives the most attention, Westmoor's fast frosh-soph team must not be overlooked. Oceana fell victim to the Ramlings, 18-46, a decisive victory for the strong Ram squad.

Paving the way for the frosh-soph's third victory without a loss was frosh John Tuttle, followed by Bill Mulcrevy, a sophomore, in the second position. Oceana managed to gain a third place, but the powerful Ramlings gathered fourth through 12th places without any interference.

Coach Kent Kerkenrath's belief that this squad will be a top contender for the northern California championships held at Stanford in November seem quite justified.

The next test for both varsity and frosh-soph teams will be Thursday, October 11, when Jefferson will be guests on the Ram course.

town talk

By JACK WOOD

Over at Cooper's Kitchen on Mission street, the atmosphere was somewhat subdued as the San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers battled it out for the National League pennant. The waitress kept the television set on, however, as a few high school students from Jefferson and other male spectators sat it out in breathless anticipation during the final two innings.

The Giants were two runs behind. And this fact caused one Jefferson student to comment: "They clutch."

"That's the Giant's big trouble, they clutch when they get into trouble."

Then the Giants evened up the score and pulled two runs ahead and the onlookers took on a more genial demeanor.

Across the street at Duffy's Tavern, the outlook was more boisterous, yet just as nervous. Duffy was pacing the floor and the far end of the bar was occupied by intent onlookers, hastily downing drinks and screaming encouragement and cheers to every Giant move.

They applauded every Giant catch and every hit. They stayed with them all the way. And Duffy, so elated over the fact that his heroes won, poured drinks for the crowd after the game.

Out on the street, auto horns honked back in recognition to one another. People carried smiles along on the streets. And Daly City quickly warmed up to the fact that their local heroes, the San Francisco Giants, had pulled the unbelievable and won the National League pennant.

Enthusiasm was still high the next day at Swanson's Westlake Bowl, where the local YWCA was holding a fashion show—courtesy of Casual Aire of Westlake and Althea's Beauty Salon.

Mrs. Jack Kendree, wife of the shopping center manager, was carrying her transistor radio in her handbag. Jim Grealish, Westlake Bowl manager, generally pointed out television sets at both ends of the bowl lounge where avid viewers were watching the Giants and the Yankees in the first series playoff game.

Three lovely ladies coming to the fashion show-luncheon were shaken by a strong wind blowing in the parking lot outside the building and vowed they should have worn Giant caps instead of getting new permanents.

As ladies poised by flower-tipped ball point pen and toyed with MJB coffee scoopers (a gift of the Westlake Bowl), the attractive models paraded in review.

About 140 women turned out for this affair, thanks to genial hostesses Doris Fox and Pat Martinez. Mrs. Charles Robertson, planning director of South San Francisco and member of the board of directors of the San Mateo County United Fund, talked on the need for contributions to United Crusade.

Her message was "one gift works many wonders." The Y is a member of the United Crusade and is partially supported by this organization.

Castle Strikes N' Spares

A beautiful new Castle Lanes, all resurfaced, refinished and ready for new high scores. Smooth sliding approaches with high scoring lanes. This should be Castle's year for many high scores.

The Castle Kids won three games in the Ken Baller Classic to go into a three-way tie for first place with the Foremost Dairies and Hoffman Plumbers. Ted Hendrickson led the Kids with a 199-202-247 for a 648 series. Ted was also high man for the league. The Kids shot the only 1000 game, a 1005, and a high series of 2853.

All Star Eliminations
The P.P.A.A. All Star Eliminations will take place at Castle Lanes, Woodside Bowl and the Plaza Lanes on Saturday, October 20 and Sunday, October 21. The five winners of the All Stars will receive a free trip to Kansas City for the national championships. This will be a real experience for any bowler, and if you should be fortunate enough to win, you could wind up at the nationals. We need 40 entries to make the tournament a complete success. Sign up with Pete Luschik now, and be sure of your spot.

Castle 915 Scoring Is Off!
What was a very hot scoring night last week, turned out to be a cold scoring night this week in the 915 Classic. Mike Alexander of the Town Motel carried both sides of the pocket for a 236/620 to lead Town Motel over the happy Barney Kern's & Son for three victories. Action Insurance, with Ed Kowalski as their head bomber, won two games from the cold John's Delicatessen. Eddie had a 243, 213, 157 for a nice 613 series. Lord Hilton Shirts defeated L & L Pro Shop, 2-1, with Orr Alexander shooting a 582 and Phil McAskill 583. Chuck (Red Hot) Nutting, with his 607, brought two victories for the National Trophies over Perini Pin Service. Paul Wanstath was the top scorer for the Mission Auto Works, 232/606. Midge McMahon shot his fourth straight 600 for the Viola Seed Company with a series of 606.

Scotch Double Winners
The ever popular Wanda and Chuck Nutting proved their rights to the crown with a nice 631 total series. Second place went to Theima and Ben Bacigalupi (Sr., of course) with a 612 series. Louise and Bill Bird placed third fifth a 576 series.

Bay Area Classic
Ron Martinson, bowling for the Castle Lanes, stole the highlights with his season's top game of 278/652 to pace the Castle Lanes keggers to a sweep over the Sun Hung Heung Restaurant five as Rich Tong posted the maples for a 219-207-202/628 for the losers.

Other big games on the Castle Lanes had the Lloyd Gordon Mfg. Co., behind Jerry Hale with 233/645 and Sam Baca, 234/631, to sweep the series from the Nugget Hotel keggers as Val Valencia was the only one to find any gold as he hit pay dirt for 211-201-205/617 for the Nuggets. Concord Bowl, behind the strong arm of Bud Freitas with 204-235-224/663, and Sky Overstreet, 212-215-210/637, to gain the odd game from the College Bowl.

McDougall Press, with the night's top game of 1066 behind Dick Stedman with 240-213/645 to gain the odd game from the H. F. Suhr Co. keggers.

Over across the Bay, the leaders had a rough time as the Bacigalupi Realty with Larry Laub as the big gun with 207-257/656, handed the Spray Craft a shut out. The all girl Fitzpatrick Chevrolet, with Danny O'Connell leading the attack with 211-209-226/646, shut the door on the Diablo Bowling Supply keggers. Urone's "Stars" paced by Howie Shandemaar with 225/599 gained the nod over the Louis Stores. Saroni's Sugar-Rice led by Benny Knott's 211-210/604, handed the Clearlite Trophies a 2-1 loss despite the 252/620 by Clem Morales for the trophy boys who had the top game on the Broadway boards with 1058.

Tuesday Night 850 League brought out a lot of good shooting, with Dan Carniglis' 607, Curley Naughton's 604 and Jack Coliano's 601.

The Ladies Thursday Night League (invitation) had Awards Unlimited shoot out of the world with a 943 high game and 790, 786 for a 2519 series. Luella Brown led the team with a 537. Opal Richards became queen of the evening with a 187-167-189/542.

The Castle Juniors, two teams in the Bay Area Junior 900 Masters, are doing great. The L & L Pro Shop is now tied for first place, while the Castle "King Pins" are two games out of first place. Ed Posuney and Bob Johnson of the Pro Shop team are leading the league with both carrying a 198 average. This isn't too bad for kids.

Louise Yaguito had herself a nice series with a 159-225-184-368 series in the Mixed Five

The group was met by the company representative, Ted Strain, who guided them through the complex plant and explained the refining of crude oil with its end results of gasoline, diesel oil, kerosene, paint thinner and numerous other commodities. This plant is operated on a 24-hour basis. The landscaping is beautiful and the recreation department for the employees represents company-employee relations at its best—swimming, boating, bowling, basketball, and various other sports are available.

The citizens group enjoyed the Standard Oil museum which contains, among other interesting items, an old-fashioned kitchen of years ago.

After this pleasant morning, the group was taken to the company cafeteria, where a meal was served to a hungry and appreciative group. A sunny ride home completed a memorable day.

Need For State Tourist Agency Stressed By Crown

A bill calling for the creation of a state tourist agency will definitely be introduced in the next session of the legislature, it was reported this week by Supervisor T. Louis Chess of San Mateo County, past president of the California Mission Trails Association.

This statement was made by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown in addressing a board of directors meeting of the California Mission Trails Association in Santa Barbara.

Assemblyman Crown is chairman of an assembly ways and means subcommittee on tourist trade, which has been holding hearings throughout the state on this subject since the first of the year.

Crown stated that testimony given at the hearings had convinced him and his committee that while private regional and community organizations are doing an excellent job of tourist promotion in most cases, there are serious gaps in the program which only the state can fill. He pointed to the lack of a statewide brochure, lack of foreign language brochures for distribution abroad, and proper orientation of incoming visitors at the ports of entry to the state, as examples of such gaps.

He stated, however, that there was no intention on his part of supplanting or duplicating the work of the existing agencies, and that he planned to call into conference the executives of the various regional and community organizations, to consult with them on the language of the proposed legislation.

Said Crown, who is also chairman of the assembly ways and means committee, "Information received during our

Champion Cat Show Oct. 13, 14

Once again the Golden West Cat Club, Inc., is deep in preparation for its annual cat show. The Hall of Flowers proved such an agreeable setting for a cat show that this year's Fifth Annual Championship Show is to be held in the same location. On the 13 and 14 of October the gallery of the Hall of Flowers, 9th Avenue and Lincoln Way in Golden Gate Park, will be filled with rows and rows of decorated cages housing hundreds of cats. Everything from the familiar Persians and Siamese to the rare Abyssinians and Manx, from grand champions to household pets.

Activity begins before the doors are opened to the public, when the exhibitors laden with cats and their paraphernalia begin checking in. Once past the vet they look for the assigned cages and fill the aisles with activity as they establish their darlings as quickly as possible on more comfortable quarters than their carriers.

A hum hangs over the hall as people busy spreading cage rugs, hanging curtains and filling water dishes call greetings to friends and glance at nearby or passing cats out of the corner of their eye. Once the cats are properly cared for the exhibitor feels free to enjoy the excitement of the seasons first show.

The new crop of kittens to be admired, the change in what was last years kittens now cats, to be exclaimed over, the renewing of old ties with friends, both feline and human, not seen since last show season, the cat talk over cups of coffee and doughnuts from the caterer's stand. At 10 o'clock the public is admitted and the judging begins with the kittens.

This year, for the first time in this area Cameo Persians will be shown. This lovely new color has tipping like the Silver Persian has but it is red or cream with a white to cream undercoat. The shell Cameo, lightest in the Cameo range, has a white undercoat and delicate cream tipping and has found such favor with local breeders. Though rare now this lovely color will no doubt be seen more and more.

All the familiar Persian colors will be present. Best known to most are the solid colors, white, black, red and blue. Cream, though also a solid color is not as well known through it is one of the hand-somest with its pale coat. The term blue is often unfamiliar to most people recognize the color. It is such the same as what is called the Maltese in the short hair.

When a gardener needs color in a hurry, he can always turn to pot-grown Chrysanthemums. Thanks to hot-house culture, these full bloom beauties are available through C.A.N. nurseries for 12 months of the year. They are always most welcome in fall. Their autumn-like colors, the rich bronze and yellows, are excellent either for spot color outdoors, or for decoration indoors.

Christopher Columbus Carnival Is Oct. 12

Famed teller of fortunes, Madame Columbo, will make one of her rare appearances at the coming gala carnival, to be held at Christopher Columbus School on Friday, October 12, from 5 to 8 p.m.

Mrs. Ralph Neuhaus, PTA president, promises that great fun and excitement are in store and Mrs. Richard Hedlund, ways and means committee chairman, and Mrs. Jerome Goldman, hospitality chairman, have formulated plans for an evening that guarantees fun for the entire family.

This will be the first carnival for the Christopher Columbus PTA and in addition to the appearance of Madame Columbo, with her magic crystal ball, there will be a Bugs Bunny carrot toss, a tic-tac-toe game, two fish ponds, four grab bags and a buried treasure game. Also, there will be special booths for white elephants and souvenirs and a cake table featuring delicious home-made cakes. A plant table will be staffed by the Boy Scout troop from Christopher Columbus School and a book and record table will be there for browsing.

"Pick-My-Pocket," a very amiable clown, will visit for the evening to add to the enjoyment of the children. For those who feel hungry, there will be a snack bar offering hot dogs, potato chips, cup cakes, orange drink and coffee.

All this excitement will take place in the multi-purpose room of Christopher Columbus School and everyone is looking forward to a most enjoyable evening.

In the part of their mother is Wana Dowell, who has also had a good deal of experience in high school productions. Portraying Jim O'Connor, the gentleman caller, is Bill Gorham. Bill is president of the Drama Club and played the lead in last year's "Brigadoon."

The play, produced by the Drama Club, will be directed by Mr. Lyle Crawford and Verna Higgins, his assistant. "The Glass Menagerie" will be given in the High School Auditorium on November 2 and 3, at 8:30. The tickets will sell for $1 at the door or from members and officers of the Drama Club.

The second game of the series resulted in a victory for Mrs. Angelina Friedman's fourth-fifth grade against Mrs. Jeanne Oberlander's fourth graders by a score of 9-4 for the girls and 19-10 for the boys. Team captains in the rooms are: Mrs. Friedman's—Douglas Hecht and Kathy Klemens; Mrs. Lanthier's—Glenn Phillips and Lauren Behlow; Mrs. Christgau—Martin Hecht and Susan Gray; Mrs. Oberlander—Randy Fitzgerald and Diane Glickman; Mrs. Burney—Robert Bosetti and Elaine Frontero.

Vista Mar Kindergarten

The kindergarten children at Vista Mar School are concluding a unit of social studies work on "The Fireman."

Many resources have been available to the children at this particular time since it is community "Fire Prevention Week."

Study prints, filmstrips, picture books, and stories were used to motivate classroom activities. Several of the children brought their toy fire engines to school. This encouraged creative block building activity in the construction of fire houses to park the trucks, and some tall buildings from which to rescue people.

One of the highlights of the unit of work was the visit of William Murray of the San Francisco fire department, whose son, Roderick Murray, is a kindergarten student at Vista Mar. Murray brought some of his special clothing to show the children, and spoke to them about the working day of a fireman.

As a culmination to the unit, the children paid a visit to the Daly City fire station on Lark Merced boulevard. The cap was literally put on the unit of work as each of the children received a Junior Fire Marshal's hat for his very own, after keeping a check of fire hazards in his own home.

The bulletin board in the school also displayed original posters relative to "Fire Prevention." The official drill given by the Daly City fire department revealed that students and staff, orderly and quickly, responded to the Klaxon alarm, and cleared the building in less than a minute.

South SF Exchange Student Tells Of Summer In Sweden

"I found it true that Swedish students are more interested in economics than politics," said Pauline Hamel, last year's foreign exchange student to Sweden from South San Francisco High School. "My family in Sweden rarely expressed any political views. Others I talked to claimed to be neutral politically but expressed a stronger feeling toward the West than to Russia."

The Andersson family in Halmstad acquired a new daughter for the summer as Pauline, under the Experiment in International Living, arrived for her stay in the land of health baths and beautiful pine forests. She lived a month with the Anderssons, then began travel with ten other students from the United States. They had also stayed with Swedish families.

Pauline is an active member of the Political Action Club, the United Nations Club, and The International Friendship Club. Pauline did not forget her normal tendency to hunt for bargains in the clothing departments; "I bought a beautiful sweater in Sweden for $10.50 that would cost $30.00 here."

Concerning religion, Pauline claims that as a whole, the Swedish are not a religious group. Only 3% of the population attend church although everyone pays a special tax to support the state Lutheran Church.

The Swedes are noticeably more cautious about nuclear warfare than Americans are. All new apartment houses are required to build fallout shelters. On a lighter and jazzier note, Pauline visited a Count Basie concert with her family while in Stockholm. Said Pauline, "The Swedes are extremely enthused over American jazz."

Garvin Hill started the session by relating background and historical development of the rockets. A major emphasis of the NASA program is the peaceful use of all satellites. Sir Isaac Newton's three laws of motion were reviewed with experiments. Types of fuel and power of thrust were explained to the pupils.

Two major peaceful purposes and uses of the present and future NASA satellites concern communications and weather forecasting. Robert Ryder talked about "the family" of NASA rockets even as Walter Schirra was orbiting the earth in the Sigma 7 spacecraft. Seeing the authentic scale satellite models was an excellent "space lesson" in itself.

Ryder pointed out to the pupils the necessity of a good early beginning of the basic skills as taught in the elementary school for future space jobs for both men and women.

Several minutes were devoted to answering questions. The remaining questions will be answered in the classrooms as the children continue their space science activities.

South SF Students Get On Job Training Course

Seventeen students at South San Francisco High School are participating in a program of distributive education offered for the first time this year.

The course is so named because the school day is divided between classroom work and work in commercial concerns.

It operates like a science course. Both have a class period and a laboratory period. The DE student's laboratory work is his place of employment where he is employed at least 15 hours per week in a functioning business enterprise.

According to Miss Martha Schifferli, program coordinator, the DE program is designed to prepare students for selling, merchandising, and management careers in retailing, wholesaling, and service business.

The course is organized in such a way that the employer and teacher-coordinator make a list of the duties and responsibilities that the student will be expected to learn while on the job. This plays helps the teacher-coordinator match vocational training in the classroom with the student's actual job experience. Miss Schifferli checks with the employer periodically to make certain that instruction is in line with the students job assignments.

In the job the students are paid the usual rate for beginning workers. As a rule, more than 25 hours of work per week is discouraged. South San Francisco High School DE students are released for on-the-job training at 12:05 p.m. each school day. Work hours coincide in most cases with the peak business hours, and on Saturdays and vacation periods. "He thus becomes a productive part time employee," comments Miss Schifferli.

Students currently enrolled in the program are seniors Pat Cunningham, Rocky Giantasio, Jim Hampton, Joe Bernard, Willy Toscano, Linda Berry, Bobbie Dawson, Diane Churma, Mary Hernandez, Sandy Welsa, Maria Gomez, Steve Lorenzini, Alberta Masetti, Phyllis Love, Eileen Christenson, and Donald Fisher.

Nurse Visits At F. Rivera School

Miss Jo Ann Green, the Fernando Rivera School nurse, recently visited Room 12.

The present health unit in Room 12 concerns dental health. For the past three weeks the pupils have been researching information about dental health. The school library, dental exhibits, classroom discussion, and films have been used to develop an awareness of good dental care.

Miss Green's presentation was extremely helpful to the pupils. Care of the teeth, proper diet, and need of teeth were several topics mentioned by the nurse.

The children are now very busily engaged with dental health posters, a united effort in the form of a pamphlet and tooth modeling with clay.

The main emphasis in the program is the prevention of dental problems through education.

Cyclist Hurt In Marin Smashup

A Novato grocery clerk was listed in poor condition at Marin General Hospital in San Rafael last Sunday night after his motorcycle ran into the rear end of a car driven by Michael A. McGovern, 44, of 142 Westbrook avenue, Daly City.

Officers said three cars were traveling southbound on U. S. 101, about 2½ miles north of Novato. Rufus Brinkley, 44, a carpenter residing at 979 Oak street in San Francisco, felt a bump at the rear of his car and pulled over and stopped. A motorcycle driven by Dale Askin, 21, grocery clerk, of 1080 Simmons lane, Novato, kept going and ran into the back of McGovern's car.

The motorcycle driver was thrown off his vehicle, but the motorcycle continued for over 100 feet, hit a tree and burst into flames, starting a grass fire.

SIXTH GRADERS STUDY THE ATOM

For better understanding of the world today and its problems, Mr. Sarkon's sixth grade class is beginning the study of the atom, with student examination of nuclear fission.

Cutouts of the proton, neutron and electron are being examined by the children to enhance their understanding of atomic weight and numbers. They are also studying the Periodic Chart of the Elements.

"The children have displayed high enthusiasm," said Sarkon. "It is important for children to have a social understanding of the importance of the atom in our lives today and in the future."

Following the study of the atom will be a study of electricity and the significance of the atom in this area.

Culmination of the project will be to assemble a paper model of the bombardment of other atoms and neutrons, showing nuclear fission.
